

DREAMING

MARLEY: Oh yeah!!

No time for lying here in my bed, this idea in my head

Is so exciting and I need more so

I must pick up the paper and pen, Go through the action again

Take down the details and then explore, oh

Yeah I've been dreaming

Oh yeah I've been dreaming

While I lay here so quiet and still, my brain was spinning until

A door flew open and I went through it

There was the most incredible scene, the best place I've ever been,

That's when I saw him and I just knew it

Yeah I've been dreaming

Oh yeah I've been dreaming

So now I'm dreaming with my eyes open

This time I won't be caught sitting, hoping

This isn't 'one day I will'

I'm gonna keep trying until

What happens next becomes really clear, there is nothing to fear

It's a story that keeps on rolling

I can't think of a better way, to be starting my day

On a journey that I'm controlling

Yeah I've been dreaming

Oh yeah I've been dreaming

And sometimes dreams come true.

THE REASON

HENRY: You say I should be going, heading out that door

To a future than is so uncertain

You say I should be leaving without telling me what for

And it's time to simply draw the curtain

On all the things I know but there's one thing before I go

Tell me

Can you tell me something, can you tell me something, can you tell me

'Cause I really need to know

what's the reason, tell me what's the reason, tell me what's the reason

You think I should go.

Can you tell me something, can you tell me something, can you tell me

'Cause I really need to know

what's the reason, tell me what's the reason, tell me what's the reason

You think I should go.

MARLEY: You're looking for excuses and acting all annoyed

Have you no sense of adventure?

I cannot understand you, what you're trying to avoid

I'm simply trying to present

An opportunity to set your spirit free

And you're repeating

HENRY: Can you tell me something, can you tell me something, can you tell me

'Cause I really need to know (MARLEY: Oh here we go again)

what's the reason, tell me what's the reason, tell me what's the reason

You think I should go. (MARLEY: I'm trying to explain) tell me something, can you tell me something, can you tell me

'Cause I really need know (MARLEY: I promise you'll be fine)

what's the reason, tell me what's the reason, tell me what's the reason

You think I should go. (MARLEY: Stick to the storyline)

MARLEY: What are you afraid of?

HENRY: Who says I'm afraid?

MARLEY: It's obvious that something is holding you back

HENRY: It's just common sense to ask the question

And not just head out blindly

MARLEY: We don't have time for this

HENRY: I need to know to make sure I'm on the right track.

MARLEY: Do you trust me Henry?

HENRY: That's not the point.

MARLEY: Do you trust me Henry?

HENRY: Sorry to disappoint you

MARLEY: You need to trust me Henry, once you break through

There's no end to all the wonderful things waiting for you

It's time for an adventure

Let me give the reason, Let me give the reason, Let me give the reason

You are waiting for. (HENRY: That is all I need) find the answer, you will find the answer, you will find the answer,

Walking through that door (HENRY: The future guaranteed)

start the journey, when you start the journey, when you start the journey

It will manifest (HENRY: A little certainty)

see the reason , you will see the reason, the reason

Is the Story Quest. (HENRY: Some kind of guarantee)

TOGETHER: Just follow you're heart

It's a story quest. It's time to start

And that's the reason.

WARRIOR

MARLEY: Grab your weapons. Don't delay

Be a hero save the day

As we charge into the fray

Draw your sword and raise it high

Then thrust parry thrust parry thrust parry

Point your arrow to the sky

Then draw and release draw and release

Turn your shield to block the blow

Then push and deflect

Soon you'll be a warrior.

HENRY: I am armed and I'm prepared

And my enemy won't be spared

But I'm nervous and I'm scared.

MARLEY: If you look inside you won't find fear

You'll find a warrior

And if you trust yourself then it is clear

You are a warrior.

(SPOKEN: Come on. I know you can do it)

Draw your sword and raise it high

Then thrust parry thrust parry thrust parry

Point your arrow to the sky

Then draw and release draw and release

Turn your shield to block the blow

Then push and deflect

Soon you'll be a warrior.

HENRY: If I look inside I won't find fear

I'll find a warrior.

And if I trust myself then it is clear

I am a warrior. If I look inside I won't find fear

I'll find a warrior. A warrior

TOGETHER: Draw your sword and raise it high

Then thrust parry thrust parry thrust parry

Point your arrow to the sky

Then draw and release draw and release

Turn your shield to block the blow

Then push and deflect

Soon you'll be a warrior.

If I look inside I won't find fear

I'll find a warrior.

And if I trust myself then it is clear

I am a warrior. If I look inside I won't find fear

I'll find a warrior. A warrior

Can be part of something more

HENRY: But the story features none of us

If we don't walk through that door

TOGETHER: If you overcome fear

If you overcome misunderstanding

If you overcome ignorance

Then share the applause because it is yours

Weave it into all the stories before

Hey. try and understand each new territory

And that is a start of being a part

Of a wonderful wonderful wonderful wonderful life

If you're willing to listen to others

If you're willing to open up

And to find out some more about what's gone before

Hey. try and understand each new territory

And that is a start of being a part
